

Andrzej Nowakowski, MD, PhD

---

WG Member

Andrzej Nowakowski is an associate professor at the Maria Sklodowska-Curie National Research Institute of Oncology in Warsaw (MSCNRIO), Poland.

Dr Nowakowski studied at the Fogarty International Training and Research Program in the USA and received laboratory training in HPV as well education in Public Health and Statistics at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, Baltimore.

He is currently Head of the Coordinating Centre for Cervical Cancer Screening Programmes in Poland, and Head of the Department of Cervical Cancer Prevention at MSCNRIO. He is the Chairman of the Section for Cervical Pathology, Colposcopy and Cytology of the Polish Society of Gynecologists and Obstetricians.

His professional and scientific interests are focused on HPV-related diseases and their prevention. Dr Nowakowski has been involved in many activities related to cervical cancer prevention in Poland and has authored inter-disciplinary recommendations on HPV vaccination. Apart from involvement in administrative, scientific, and educational activities in cervical cancer prevention, he is an active clinician and board-certified obstetrician, gynecologist and gynecological oncologist providing consultations, colposcopy and surgical services in gynecological oncology, including robotic surgery.