

Mário Dinis-Ribeiro

WG Member

Born in 1973, graduated in Medicine in 1996, earned his Doctorate Degree in 2005 and Agregação in 2009 from the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Porto (FMUP). He is, since 2020, Senior Consultant and, since 2014, Head of the Gastroenterology Department of the Portuguese Oncology Institute of Porto (IPO Porto)/ Porto Comprehensive Cancer Center (Porto.CCC).

Being Guest Full Professor at FMUP since 2014, he developed 2 different research groups previously and he is a Group Leader (with 9 other PhDs) and Sub-Director at IPO Research Centre (CI-IPO) and Thematic Line at RISE (Health Research Network).

He is a member of the Scientific Committee of the PhD programme in Clinical and Health Services Research at FMUP and his research interests focus on improving early diagnosis and noninvasive management of gastrointestinal tumors, leading several inter-institutional national and international projects with over 300 scientific articles published (HI=49).

Since 2022, he is also a Member of the Portugal Cancer Policy Group, National Cancer Hub and Treasurer of the World Endoscopy Organization. He has been honored as Honorary Member of ESGE and Fellow of the Japanese Society of Gastrointestinal Endoscopy.

He is Co-Editor-in-Chief of the journal Endoscopy since 2013. He won the BIAL Award in Clinical Medicine in 2018 and honored as Rotary's Paul Harris' Fellow in 2020.