

Sara Brucker

QASDG Member

Univ.-Prof. Dr. med Sara Brucker is Deputy Executive Director of the Department of Women's Health and Medical Director of the Research Centre for Women's Health at Tübingen University.

In 2006 she became Senior Attending and Chair of the Institute of Women's Health at Tübingen University Women's Hospital. Since 2009 she is Chair of the Centre of Rare Genital Malformations at the Centre of Rare Diseases (ZSE).

2008 she was rewarded with the prestigious Gunter-Bastert-Innovation-Prize of the DGG (German Society for Gynecology and Obstetrics) for the "Implementation of the Certification Process of Breast Cancer Centres and their Digital Documentation". She is congress president of the Annual Meeting of the DGOG in 2016 and the Editor of "Senologie" journal and member of the Se-Guideline Working Group for Diagnostic Therapy and follow-up in breast cancer.

Major fields of research:

Quality assurance in breast cancer.

Guideline development and implementation.

Basic research in breast cancer (new prediction and prognosis factors, minimal residual disease)